BEAUTIFY EAGLE ST. PLAN TOLD COUNCIL

Councillor A. V. Higginson asked the town council at a meeting on Monday evening to give the Newmarket Horticultural Society permission to beautify Eagle St. from the end of the sidewalk to the Lions club sign on the south side of the road.

"The Horticultural Society has asked about making some alterations," Mr. Higginson said. "They are going to beautify it with evergreens from their own nursery."

"We are going to make a flagstone walk with broken stone if we can get the time this summer," said Councillor Frank Bowser, chairman of the road and bridge committee.

"The petunia beds are in now," said Mr. Higginson.

Permission was given to Deputy-Reeve A. D. Evans to have the clerk's office re-wired for more efficient lighting.

Councillor J. L. Spillite told the council that he and Councillor Frank Bowser had given permission to a commercial show to use the arena and asked for the consent of the rest of the council. Councillor A. V. Higginson, chairman of the property committee, agreed.

IRIS SWEEPSTAKE WON BY MRS. ED. BRAMMER

In spite of the heavy rains for two days previous to the annual iris show of the Newmarket Horticultural Society, there were many and beautiful flowers exhibited in the United church Sunday-school rooms on Saturday.

Saves Tanker From Disaster, Awarded Medal For Bravery

GRANT ROBINSON

Able Seaman Grant Robinson, 18 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Robinson, Prospect St., Newmarket, has received the Award Of Merit for bravery from the wartime commission of the Norwegian merchant navy.

Four days out at sea sometime early this month, the oil tanker on which he was sailing took fire. Grant has written his parents: "The galley got on fire. It was flaming and smoke so you could not see. There was a little tap that was feeding the flames. It had to be turned off. So I did it."

Over a year ago he went to New York and joined the Norwegian merchant marine. He has been sailing out of Portland, Maine. He was home in January on leave and again in May as a convalescent. He rejoined his ship at the beginning of this month.

Grant has a brother and four sisters, Claude, Helen, Margaret, Joan and Beth. He attended the King George school.

Two New Teachers Join Public Schools Staff

There will be a "Miss Graham" at each of Newmarket's three public schools next fall. They are not related to each other.

Miss Adella Graham teaches at the King George school, Miss Evelyn J. Graham teaches at the Alexander Muir school. And now Miss Agnes J. Graham, Elmvale, has been appointed to the staff of the Stuart Scott school, succeeding Miss Barbara Sutcliffe, who has resigned.

Another new member of the staff will be Miss Eva Barnes, Malton, who has been appointed supply and auxiliary class teacher.

Members of the board made an inspection of the schools on Monday evening, to see what repairs and decoration would be necessary. Board members hope to equip the primary room at the King George school with tables and chairs similar to those at the Alexander Muir school.

There will be a meeting of the board on Friday, June 29.

A. D. EVANS OPPOSES COLD STORAGE AWARD

Payment of $22.65, 50 percent of the claim of Dick Rupke for damage to equipment at his north-end cold storage plant, was approved by Newmarket town council on Monday evening.

N. L. Mathews, K.C., town solicitor recommended the settlement, which, he said, had the approval of Clerk Wesley Brooks, Councillor J. L. Spillite and Reeve F. A. Lundy.

Mr. Mathews said that the town's water meter reader had been in the plant the previous day and that while he believed that he had locked the door he had not checked the lock, and that it was possible that he had not locked it, and that someone else, hearing the water run, had stepped in and turned the water off "as a favor." Damage had been caused to the equipment as a result of the water being turned off.

The council accepted the settlement with Councillor A. D. Evans opposed.

Councillor Frank Bowser was critical of the arrangement by which the meter reader let himself into the building. Mr. Spillite said that in the future Mr. Rupke was going to pick up the meter reader and take him in.

COUNTER ATTACK IS BRILLIANT FAILURE

By ORVILLE GANTON

All feathered out in new uniforms, Orioles invaded Col. Young's citadel Tuesday evening and snatched a 9-8 thriller-diller from the army lassies.

An error in judgment by Catcher McCargan was all that separated the two teams. Orioles were coasting on an 8-3 lead going into the sixth but the army opened a terrific counter-attack that tied the count and sent the supporting troops into paroxysms.

In the seventh McCargan elected to throw out Blight sliding into second when Muirhead, who was perched prettily on third, scored easily on the play. Phil Osborne, who pitched steadily throughout, went in and held the one-run advantage by forcing Eamon and Czinkota to pop weakly to Armitage. Little Mary Ellen MacInnis then galloped a country mile to squeeze Kaligian's long fly and the fat was in the fire.

The game was the best played in Del Gibney's loop to date. Schroder had six strike-outs. The Edmonton, blonde gave another classy display of flinging. However, too many passes proved her undoing. McCargan, except for the one lapse, played well; she handled Schroder's fast shoots in good style and also banged out a mighty homer for good measure. Clarke, the Galt flash in short field, covered more territory than an army jeep and was fast as a whipet on the bases.

Coach "Rudy" Ruddock shifted his infield around with good results. The entire infield played bang-up ball. Blight at short showed a powerful wing while VanZant covered the initial sack efficiently. Mary Osborne was Orioles' big shot with the timber. She smote Schroder's offerings hither and yon.

The victory puts Orioles in second place and drops the soldier girls into the cellar. Only three runs separate the teams, as all games have been won by one-run margins.

Orioles: MacInnis, 1f.; VanZant, 1b.; P. Osborne, p.; M. Osborne, 3b.; Muirhead, c.; Blight, s.s.; Pegg, c.f.; Pollock, r.f.; Armitage, 2b.

23 B.T.C.: Kaligian, 2b.; McCargan, c.; Clarke, s.s.; Schroder, p.; Williams, 1f.; Young, 1b.; Bennett, 3b.; Eamon, c.f.; Czinkota, r.f.; Hind, utility.

Umpires, Gould and Gantner.

RELATES HOW FIGHTERS GOT ATKINS' PLANE

Herbert Atkins, Newmarket, has received a letter from Flt. Sgt. J. S. Scott of Liverpool, England, telling of the death of Mr. Atkins' son, FO Ivan Atkins, who was killed in action May 13, 1944. Flt. Sgt. Scott was the only member of the crew able to bale out. He has recently arrived back in England after spending the past year in a German prison camp.

"I arrived in England a fortnight ago and I can assure you it's really good to be home again," Flt. Sgt. Scott writes.

"I feel sure you would like me to tell you what happened on the night Ivan lost his life.

"There really isn't much to tell, for everything happened so quickly. We were attacked by fighters and hit in the port wing; the plane went into a steep dive and on the way down the wing broke off. In doing so it tore a hole in the fuselage right by my seat and I fell out of that hole. I had my parachute on so it was only the work of a second to pull the rip-cord. The last thing I saw before I fell out was Ivan trying to open the exit-hatch, but it was practically impossible owing to the very steep angle of the aircraft.

"No one in the plane had spoken a word only the skipper giving the order to bale out.

"I did not know that everyone else was killed until after I was captured. The Germans took me down to the crashed plane and showed me the bodies.

"The only comfort I can give you is that Ivan and the boys must have died quickly and with no pain. The bodies were in very good condition and I was able to identify them easily but I was not allowed to disclose their names to the Germans.

"They were taken to Antwerp and that's where I saw them last. I assume they were buried there.

"By the way, the name of the place we were shot down was Gheet, Belgium. I am sorry that I have had to give you such awful news but I feel it is what you wanted to know."

ROSES IN DECEMBER ARE SERVICE TOPIC

"Our memories of those whom we have known and loved are with us in spirit, and I hope that we may be better men and women because of our memories," Rev. Dr. G. H. Johnson said at Newmarket cemetery decoration day services on Sunday.

Dr. Johnson quoted Barrie: "God gave us memory that we might have roses in December." He said that "the memories of those we have loved are a constant source of inspiration. Through the memory of those who are surrounding us in spirit we endeavor to live more nobly and more beautifully."

W. H. Helmer, a member of the Newmarket Cemetery board, presided. He spoke of the efforts made to keep the grounds and monuments in good condition.

Rev. Henry Cotton read the scripture. Capt. Arthur Robinson of the Salvation Army led in prayer. The gathering observed one minute's silence in honor of the dead. Stewart Bear provided recorded music.

The gathering adjourned to the Newmarket Veterans' plot, where President Alfred Smith thanked the cemetery board for setting aside the soldiers' plot. Taking charge of a brief service as padre of the Newmarket Veterans, Mr. Cotton quoted General Dwight Eisenhower, who, when he was given the freedom of the city of London, England, a few days ago, said: "We must never forget the men who died."

Mr. Cotton commented: "We ought to feel very humble as we remember at this time the more than 30,000 Canadians who have given their lives in this war, and the more than 60,000 Canadians who died in the first Great War, the majority of whom lie in foreign lands. We shall remember them and that our freedom has been bought with a great price."

The Last Post was followed by two minutes silence and Reveille.

A Memorial To Modern Crusaders

It is human nature to forget the sorrows of war. People could not take on new loads if old loads did not become lighter with the passage of time. Humanity is forever looking through the rain for the rainbow.

Newmarket and district people will agree, we think, with the recent suggestion of Aubrey Davis, president of the Davis Leather Co., that they should commemorate the sacrifice of those who have not returned from this war, and the service of those who have returned, with a living memorial—a memorial that will serve the people of this town for many a decade and that will be just a little bit of that better world for which the boys felt they were fighting.

In making his suggestion on V-E Day, Mr. Davis said that the men and women who have served king, country and civilization during this war exhibited the same spirit that went with the crusading knights of old, and suggested that the people of the town might erect a new municipal building to be named Crusader Memorial Building.

The war is not over yet but now is the time to organize for the erection of a memorial which will be, as Mr. Davis said, a credit to the town. After the last war the finest memorials were those of the communities who began to plan even while the boys were still returning home. Those communities were able to harness not only the war time spirit of getting things done, and the full tide of community gratitude, but they were able to use the war organizations which suddenly found their tasks completed.

Who should take the initiative in organizing the desire on the part of Newmarket people to commemorate the sacrifices and services of Newmarket men and women? Should the town council call a community meeting? Should the Lions club call a meeting? Should the Red Cross or the Women's Institute or the Navy League or the Soldier-Citizen club call a meeting? Should the town's business men take the initiative? Let someone do it.

What sort of organization should be set up? What steps should be taken to ascertain what sort of a memorial the people want and are prepared to work for? Should a municipal building, to the extent that it is to serve municipal business purposes, be paid for out of taxation?

What other facilities should it include? Concert hall, committee rooms, library, rest rooms, gymnasium, swimming pool? Should this community side-of such a memorial building be a town project only or should it be a joint project of the people of the town and the surrounding countryside—a memorial to the boys and girls of Newmarket and district and a recreational institution for the people of Newmarket and district?

These are all questions for immediate public discussion, through the press, or at organization meetings, or at a special town council meeting, or at a community meeting open to everyone. The suggestion of a memorial building gives a concrete starting point for public discussion and comes from an able business man who has just played, with other members of his family, the major role in providing Newmarket with a modern and creditable hospital—a blessing to the people of northern York county and an invaluable asset to the town.

Mayor Suggests Free Books For Children Of Town Schools

Newmarket town council will suggest to Newmarket public school board that it consider supplying free school books to pupils.

"I think that we should respectfully suggest that Newmarket public school board supply free school books," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales at a town council meeting on Monday evening. There were several expressions of approval.

"This year?" queried Councillor Joseph Vale. "How much would it cost? It would come out of this year's budget."

"Let them work out the details," said Dr. Dales.

"Some centres buy their books wholesale," said Mr. Vale. "How would they buy them here? The town didn't buy books when people didn't have much money. Should it buy them now when they have money?"

"Let's have a motion," urged the mayor.

"Let's think it over until the next meeting," replied Mr. Vale.

"I'm afraid that there may be difficulty," said Councillor Frank Bowser. "The bookstores will have the books ordered already."

"The school board could take them off their hands," said Dr. Dales.

It was agreed to ask the public school board to study the question.

RENEWS ACQUAINTANCES

David White, just back from overseas, and Mrs. White, Toronto, were calling on friends in Newmarket last Thursday.

A lifelong resident of North Gwillimbury township, William Marritt died in his 87th year at his home at Keswick on June 14. He had been in failing health for the past three years.

Keenly interested in public affairs, Mr. Marritt was at one time a member of North Gwillimbury council and served for a number of years as a school trustee. A staunch Liberal all his life, he listened to the election returns on June 11. For a number of years he was a correspondent for the Newmarket Era.

Mr. Marritt was the only surviving member of the Methodist Episcopal church, Keswick, in 1878, which later merged into the Methodist church and still later the United church. He was clerk of the session in the United church and also served as a trustee. Years ago he was choir leader. Mr. Marritt spent a great deal of time and money on the church.

Born on Feb. 6, 1859, he married Bertha Appleton of Toronto. Mrs. Marritt died nearly six years ago. They often chuckled over the fact that their wedding was postponed one day because after the date was set it turned out to be Dominion election day and Wm. Marritt felt he should stay at home that day and cast a ballot for his friend, Wm. Mulock, later Sir Wm. Mulock.

Surviving are five sons, Gladstone, Hamilton, Isaac, Galt, John W., Edmonton, Frank, Keswick, Harry, Gowanda, N.Y., one daughter, Joy, Keswick, and one sister, Mrs. Wm. King, Newmarket.

Well over 300 attended the service on Sunday in Keswick: United church conducted by his minister, Rev. Gordon Lapp. His former minister, Rev. Chas. Fockler, Maple, called at the home on Saturday and would have taken part in the funeral if it had not been necessary to hold it on Sunday. A family service was conducted at the home preceding the church service.

A telegram came from the only son who could not be present, Jack, Edmonton.

Honorary pallbearers were: Ryan Switzer and George Hamilton, representing Keswick United church; Ross McMillan, reeve of North Gwillimbury township; J. C. Purdy, a friend of the family, and president of the Hamilton service club; Clark Young, past president of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association; N. A. Fletcher, ex-warden of Wentworth county.

Active pallbearers were six nephews, Ernest Morton, Orval King, Leslie Stephens, John Marritt, Mont Appleton, N. Noble.

WHITCHURCH DROP SCHOOL AREA PLAN FOR PRESENT

About 45 ratepayers attended a public meeting at Vandorf to discuss the township school area plan. Many school sections were not represented. Inspector O. M. McKillop who outlined the details, told the Whitchurch township council in advising them that nothing further would be done in Whitchurch this year to advance the school area plan. When a vote was taken at Vandorf by Deputy-Reeve Lorne P. Evans, 16 voted against and eight were in favor, Mr. McKillop said.

Inspector McKillop pointed out there were 60 school officials in Whitchurch, with 15 schools, each having three trustees and a secretary-treasurer. A board of five to be elected by the ratepayers annually might be established and bring about uniformity in equipment, purchasing and general policy, he said. As the present system stands there are some schools who supply text books free, some schools have the services of a music supervisor and some schools do neither, he stated. It was a matter entirely for the ratepayers to decide and the department of education would not interfere, he said.

Councillor Ed Logan thought that many who might vote for the plan didn't understand the matter and that the ratepayers were not yet ready for the question.

Councillor L. J. Harper thought it would be better to poll the individual school sections and let each one decide for themselves. Getting a really representative meeting would be difficult.

Deputy-Reeve Evans said council stood ready to be guided by the wishes of the school section, but were taking no lead in the matter although all had their own opinions.

"Although the meeting was small, in view of the opinions of those present, who were a fair cross section of the township, I don't think the plan would have carried with a bigger meeting either," a township official said. It is understood a further meeting will be held in the fall.

WHITCHURCH RATEPAYERS ASK FOR ABATEMENT OF DUST

Musselman's Lake road approximately two and a half miles in length will be oiled for this year if and when two-thirds of the ratepayers (cottagers) sign a petition agreeing to pay one half the cost estimated at $1 to $1.25 per cottage. Whitchurch council told Messrs. Daniels and Evans forming a deputation urging the council to do something immediately to allay the dust.

Mr. Daniels said the residents at the lake recognized that the council had a real problem in war years, but with road oil now available, they wanted an intolerable condition ended. "I have lived at the lake 20 years," said Mr. Daniels, "and now the traffic has become so heavy and the dust so dense I simply can't eat a meal in my cottage. Dust is everywhere."

Wm. Evans, another veteran of the lakeside said there was a health hazard, and that the cottagers were willing to pay their way if only the council would get on with the work.

A letter from the secretary of the Ratepayers' Association backed up the request.

Reeve Leary and councillors agreed to oil the road just as soon as the petition was filed with the township clerk, duly signed.

The amount of oil will be approximately 6,000 gallons, of a good grade oil, which would undoubtedly do an excellent job in both laying the dust and preserving the road.

The same offer made to Musselman's will be applicable to Wilcox Lake area.

The deputation thanked council for the cordial hearing and promised to get out the petition without delay. It is expected that cottagers will be eager to sign up regardless of where the cottage is from the main road which everybody makes use of.

JUVENILE SHOW IS BILLED FOR SATURDAY

The Newmarket Horticultural Society will hold its annual juvenile show this Saturday in the United church Sunday-school rooms. This show, which is usually held in conjunction with the annual peony show, is being held separately this year owing to the lateness of the peony season.

WHITCHURCH Build Eight Veterans' Houses In Whitchurch

Eight new homes will be erected in Whitchurch Township, all of bungalow style under the Soldier Settlement and Veterans' Land Act. These homes will be one and a half story type and are chosen from some 30 designs by leading architects across Canada. They will have full basement, hot air heating and modern plumbing.

Each bungalow will have one acre of land, indicating the soldier will be able to carry on a limited market garden business.

The information offered by letter from J. C. Angus, district construction supervisor, was accompanied by a blue print map of the area purchased by the Board for the purpose indicated.

VETERANS' TRADITIONS

By ORVILLE GANTON

A pertinent question in veterans' affairs at the present time is whether the young veterans of this war are apt to carry on the traditions of the association. It is certain that Newmarket Veterans' Association has become an indispensable institution in our community life. The large sums freely subscribed by the public for its work clearly indicate how much it is appreciated.

Although affiliated with the Canadian Corps Newmarket Veterans work independently. From the highest officers down all work is done on a voluntary basis, of course, with the exception of the corps head office staff. The association is strictly non-partisan in politics and intends to remain so. Years of experience in dealing with different governments has shown the wisdom of remaining aloof from party politics. However, the corps are always willing to co-operate freely with any government in an advisory capacity. Much of the beneficial legislation pertaining to veterans is the result of the pressure applied by veterans' associations.

But tradition wears a snowy beard. Many who have carried the load since the last war are ready for their armchairs and smelling salts. The spirit is willing but the body is becoming weak. Many are anxious to retire from office just as soon as young veterans can be schooled to take over. In some of the larger centres World War II veterans have organized separate branches. This does not, however, seem logical in smaller communities. A combination of experienced old veterans and enthusiastic young ones should be the ideal arrangement for the transition period at least.

In any event, there is a tremendous job to be done. Young veterans will learn that the close comradeship, which was forged in the fires of war, must be retained in civilian life. The books of the Veterans' Associations contain concrete evidence that the best intentions and promises even when backed by well oiled government machinery, often break down. We sincerely hope the young veterans are prepared to carry on these traditions which grow ever more venerable.

STARTS KITCHEN CABINET BUSINESS

(Promise of a new industry for Newmarket is contained in the following article from last week's Financial Post concerning a distinguished ex-serviceman. While the Post writer may have confused to some extent the prospects of the new business with what has already been accomplished, the story is one of enterprise and aggression. The Post article follows. The business is located in the eastern Dixon building and will soon be in full operation.—Editor.)

The story of ex-navy Lieutenant Aubrey Scythes of Newmarket, Ont., is one of many instances where veterans of this war have launched new and promising businesses. Details of this and other enterprises are being presented in the Financial Post for the benefit of servicemen. This is No. 5 in the series.

Lieut. (E) Aubrey G. Scythes was discharged from the Canadian navy last September after four years' service in various parts of the world. He came back to his home town of Newmarket and started his own business—manufacturing wooden articles, especially cabinets. He now has a plant that employs 12 people and at the present rate of production shows an operating profit of over $1,000 a week. His manufacturers' agent has guaranteed him at least $40,000 in orders this year, and a minimum of $60,000 in 1946. Scythes' original investment was $5,000.

Long-term planning is the secret of Scythes' success. Even before the war he wanted to get into woodworking manufacture, shopped around for jobs that would teach him the trade, give him sufficient insight into other technical problems to meet the emergencies that inevitably crop up. After serving his apprenticeship in woodworking he worked as an electrician, a machinist, a garage man, in an aircraft factory, and took a course in foremanship and production in his spare time.

By the time Scythes came out of the navy he had the "know how" for his present enterprise. The next job was to select the most suitable line of products. Doing his own market research, he found out from manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers that cabinet work for kitchens offered the biggest opportunity.

Using a double garage as a factory, Scythes turned out samples of sink cabinets and showed them to officials of a large plumbing equipment manufacturing company. The latter's acceptance of the models convinced him that he could make the grade and after many enquiries he found a place where he could set up a plant. He rented one room—now he has a whole floor.

The capital was raised through his savings, gratuity and re-establishment credit. It wasn't quite enough, but the department of veterans' affairs men provided a solution by sending him to the industrial development bank where he obtained a loan.

Distribution was the next problem. Scythes figured it would be a mistake to hire a sales organization to handle the volume that he wanted to turn out and he engaged a manufacturers' agent. After seeing one of the models, one dealer sent in an order for $12,000. Scythes says that it hit him "like a thunderbolt." That was a few months ago. Since then both Scythes and his agent have been very busy men.

The young veteran depends upon the quality of his products to offset competition. He claims he can build cabinets comparable with the best, at lower prices, and sales back up the statement. His product is put together with modern stainless, waterproof glue, such as is used in today's aircraft, and he uses first quality sitka spruce and yellow cedar.

Scythes doesn't intend to expand the organization too rapidly. He is interested in providing service to the local retail trade and producing other forms of woodwork such as sash and doors.

Meanwhile on the strength of current contracts, he will be building kitchen furniture for houses now being constructed under the Veterans' Land Act.

Road accounts totalled $851, and after being scrutinized were ordered paid.

Reeve George Leary presided over the session and members were all present. A special meeting will be held at the latter end of this week to give consideration to several matters which there was not time to deal with at this session.

Growing Like a Weed

"GROWING LIKE A WEED" does not describe the kind of development you want to see in your young growing flock. The birds you are raising to replace your present flock of layers need more than just rank growth to make them profitable producers.

If young birds do not develop a sound, deep, body conformation and a hardy constitution at the same time, they can never develop into the type of birds that are able to maintain their health and vitality throughout the long season when production must be kept to the most profitable levels.

To keep your flock growing, to keep them developing good, deep, roomy bodies and to keep them in outstanding good health, you should feed them a balanced growing ration. A balanced ration takes all the guesswork out of feeding and provides them with their full requirements of proteins, minerals and vitamins. ## DOWN THE CENTRE

Strike up the band! A little soft music, professor, then the roll of drums and the spot light shifts to the skies, to the top of that high-diving ladder and out he steps ready to jump. Can he make it? That pool looks pretty small. Here he comes now! Splash, he's done it again and out from the water steps our old friend, Les Beazer, winter manager of Newmarket arena. Just in case you're wondering where the loquacious, affable Beazer is these days, locate Paddy Conklin's shows, touring Canada, and you'll find Les doing a high-diving act. It is nothing new for him either, for he has been doing it for years as well as teaching swimming. Until late fall, he'll be with Conklin's and somewhere along the line, at Lindsay fair, Oshawa, Brantford, Hamilton, you may catch him in action. No telling what he'll be doing next.

Lou Lehman, who for a decade was one of the best receivers in tri-country baseball, is forsaking the Stouffville-Almira district where his family have been in the woolen business for years. Lou goes to Hamilton following the sale of the mill. Along with his brother, Bruce, now at Delhi, Ont., Lou formed the only brother battery we remember in the district and he also handled Earl Cook's elusive shots in grand fashion.

Hockey rules have been amended slightly for next year but there is not much to worry about. Icing the puck this year sees the red lines that were 15 feet in front of each goal moved back even with the goals so now the rubber will have to travel that extra distance before the whistle is blown. It should eliminate a lot of whistle-tooting.

Elbowing, developed to a fine art by many players, now calls for a minor two-minute penalty and it will be a difficult rule to call. The minor penalty shot has wisely enough been discarded and only the major one remains. There was a rule that had fans and officials in wonderment half the time.

One assist only will be granted on a goal from now on with rebounds counting in the assist department. The scorers and officials will breathe easier and for that matter so will the holders of scoring and assists marks in the N.H.L. The two assists system certainly was worked overtime to bring each club's leading scorer into the limelight. Those pow-wows between team officials and referees, always good for a long delay and a near riot, are no more. The referee will not skate over to the bench any more. The only complaints he'll get will be from the team captains.

Anti-betting rule, which prohibits all players and officials from wagering on any game, even though the player, trainer, manager or stick boy's own team may not be playing, looks like one of the silliest we have heard about. How will a check be made? If you couldn't stop bookies in racing, you'll not stop executives or players betting if they want to. We do not believe there is much crookedness in hockey, at least not so far as the players are concerned, but there are quite a few who declare the N.H.L. to be "fixed". If anything was more calculated to create more of those Johnny-know-it-alls it is the new rule. Club officials surely were quite capable of keeping their own houses in order and doorsteps clean without the aid of new rules. Legislation seldom stops anything the individual or persons it is aimed at want to do.

Lacrosse will make its debut at Newmarket camp this year. Under the leadership of Lieut. Logan and Sgt. Harry Comrie, the old baseball standby of other years, the lads are practising Canada's national game and there is said to be some fair material on hand.

Billy Taylor, who is currently guarding the red light corner for No. 23 softballers, is a nifty gutted stick artist and last year played for Meds-Combines, who won the Camp Borden and unofficial services title. Charlie ("Baldy") Nesbitt and Saint, two Bradford lacrosse experts, Jack ("Cannonball") Wheeler, Johnny ("Irish Thrush") Callanan, "Joint" McComb and the rest should make good players. (Elmer, the office boy, says that lacrosse is one game that should be right down McComb's alley.) Sgt. Hogg is another who is said to be looking extra good. Just where competition would come from is hard to say but shortly Armored Corps, Infantry, Meds and the R.C.A.F. will open the lacrosse season at Camp Borden and doubtless they would welcome a few games out of camp. Here's hoping the "noble experiment" which in other years has failed to click at Newmarket really goes over this season.

"Sparky" Vail is once again back in the baseball world, tossing the little white pill for McIntyre-Combines up north and the old right arm is still plenty potent. Vail was no great shakes as a hurler when he played for Cliff Case's Blue Ribbons, but he acquired more skill and headwork in the north and for the past ten years has been one of the best in the Timmins area. He clouts the ball hard too.

Canada's greatest pitching son, FO Bill Marchildon of Penetang, is home from his long internment in a German prison camp and we understand that once he has had a rest and put on some weight, he will seek his old berth with the Philadelphia Athletics. Marchildon was at the peak of his form when he joined the R.C.A.F. and if he had not had his career interrupted, undoubtedly would have ranked with the greatest in the game today. Here's hoping he can come back as successfully as Boston's Dave Ferriss and others who have returned from the war to make their way to stardom.

Speaking of Canadian ball players, have you noticed that "Goody" Rosen, the Toronto boy who has been up and down in baseball the past ten years, is now the toast of Brooklyn and has supplanted the great Dixie Walker in the Dodgers outfield?

Election round-up comes again. Successful in seeking seats for the federal house is a long list of sportsmen. Heading the list (and it came as a surprise) was Bucko McDonald in Parry Sound. He made the grade by a slight margin as the King candidate. The Sundridge product, better known as a bashing defenceman with Rangers and a grade A trencherman in any league, was making his first try for office and his campaign was cleverly planned. He never handed out a better jolt in his life to anyone.

Earl Rowe of Dufferin-Simcoe, an owner of both harness and running horses, proved he hadn't lost any of his deserved popularity by romping home ahead of his lone opponent in a fairly bitter campaign.

Tommy Church, seven times mayor of Toronto and still the No. 1 fan at Queen City sporting events, won again.

Jack Smith, one of North York's best known lawn bowlers and a regular attendant at sports events in the Hill, captured North York.

Hon. "Chubby" Power, who once played pro hockey for Quebec Bulldogs and once scored seven or eight goals in a single game, proved he still had his eye on the ball by coming down in front.

Lieut.-Col. Cecil Merritt, V.C., hero of Dieppe and for two years a prisoner of war, one of Vancouver's best rugby and cricket players in pre-war days, was given the nod by grateful constituents.

Frank Lennard, president of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, former M.P., regained his seat in the Prog.-Cons. column in Wentworth. Mr. Lennard has done a great job in keeping football going in wartime.

Listed among those defeated were George Panter, vice-president of the O.H.A., who ran in Muskoka-Ontario and lost out to another keen sportsman, "Long Jim" Macdonnell.

Roly Glover, ex-O.H.A. president and Peterborough sportsman, tasted defeat, as did Hugh Flaxton, University of Toronto Varsity Grads centre star and one of Canada's greatest puck-chasers. "Doc" Ames, former Newmarket boy and Redman goalie, couldn't stop the barrage of Liberal Walter Little and went down for the count in Temiskaming. "Doc" polled over 5,000 votes and finished second and there is no doubt the shellacking the Jolliffe forces took the week previous affected his chances.

Doug Bews, former Queen's University footballer and basketball player, was another C.C.F. candidate who went down after a hard struggle in Hastings.

Major George Hees, crack centre star of Varsity and Argos football teams and of all-star calibre, lost out in Spadina to Lieut. Dave Croll.

Jim Rooney was out of luck in St. Paul's riding by a narrow margin. "Boss", as the boys in the know in Toronto call him, is the founder of the Rooney clubs and financial backer for softball, soccer and other teams in the Queen City. His soccer team plays against Newmarket camp.

Koss Gray, one of the founders of the Sarnia Imperial football club, lost his seat in Lambton to the P.C.'s, but in Calgary, Smith, the president of the Calgary Bronks club, won out.

Tim Buck lost too, and in case you're wondering what sports he ever participated in, let us mention cross-country running, hide-and-go-seek and fence jumping.

Vic Reynolds of Barrie, noted for lacrosse, rugby and hockey prowess and well known locally, has returned safely from his duties overseas. Vic is a member of the Caterpillar club, his plane having been shot down and he was once reported missing.

Capt. Frank Clacey, former Thornhill junior lacrosse player and Queen's Yorks officer, has married since returning from overseas. Frank married the widow of one of his closest friends who was killed in action in Italy where Capt. Clacey was twice wounded.

Sgt. "Whitey" Peterson, the P.T. expert, and Cpl. Len Wadsworth (don't make it read Leon or Leonard, Mr. typesetter) journeyed to the sands of Camp Borden last week in quest of leatherpushers for that big July 1 show being presented on Capt. Tom George's three-ring circus. The two boys found the manly art to be on the downgrade in most Borden centres but they did manage to come up with a fairly complete card. "French" Bureau, 118 lbs., Dan Bender, 126 lbs., and Gerry Goy, 135 lbs., are three of the lads secured and they will be matched with suitable opponents. Wadsworth is seeking opposition himself and will doubtless be pitted against a worthy opponent for the Canadian professional middleweight king.

truck *

In recent years, Canadian farmers have overcome a multitude of difficulties. Despite labour shortages, storm and weather hazards, they have consistently increased production, and harvested the record crops so vital to a nation at war.

They have been handicapped, by lack of proper distribution facilities, in getting produce to market, farm-fresh. Many who realize the time and labour a General Motors truck would save, look forward hopefully to the time when they are again available.

That time is coming...

The time when Victory signals a General Motors change-over from war to peace production... the time when all the experience, engineering skill and productive power now being used by General Motors to fashion tough, durable armoured vehicles, will be directed towards the production of sturdy, General Motors trucks — dependable, great-hearted trucks that will mean less work and worry, more leisure and prosperity for farmers and producers everywhere.

OUR DOG "SCAMP"

When bombs began to fall on Edinburgh, early in the war, a young Scottish woman brought her three children from that threatened city to the safety of Newmarket. Her parents made this war guest family at home. They procured a dog for the children, who named him, wisely and well, "Scamp." Half Cocker and half Springer, he was all Spaniel. When the Scots children returned to their "ain cuntry" the present writer's children became the new owners of Scamp, who was now something over a year old and beginning to take an interest in that part of the world which lay beyond his own backyard.

When our family moved to Toronto last fall Scamp was becoming a wanderer. He would stay away sometimes for a day or more. Twice the Humane Society picked him up and took him to its pound. We thought that these Humane Society "tag days" were coming around too fast and gladly took the suggestion of a Humane Society attendant that we put our name and phone number on Scamp's collar so that the public would telephone us instead of the Humane Society. Our telephone has been ringing ever since.

We had no idea that Toronto contained so many kind-hearted, dog-loving, telephone-minded folks. "Have you got a big Spaniel?" the kind telephone voice will usually begin. Invariably we have to confess that at the moment we haven't got him. "He's such a dear," continues the voice. "We brought him into the house to give him a drink." Or, "He's such a fine dog. We try to persuade he will get run over." Then we try to persuade the voice, usually a lady's, that if she will leave him alone he will come home. Frequently—perhaps she likes our telephone voice—she will insist that we come and get him. One evening within the space of three-quarters of an hour three people telephoned us from one street. The third voice, a man's, insisted that we come and get Scamp before something happened to him.

"He must be worth a hundred dollars," this occupant of a large house on a "better street" commented when we arrived at the scene. We explained that he was not purebred. "He is a fine dog. He's got a fine coat. You had better be careful or you will lose him." One of the most recent calls came from only a couple of blocks away at 1 a.m., and we had to go and get him. One of the most scampish things he has done was to follow the children to school one morning. His eight-year-old master was instructed to take him home, thereby incurring three trips between home and school and his first "late" since he started at the King George school three years ago.

You will agree that Scamp has "been around," and you will be interested therefore in what he said to us as we set out for Newmarket this week to assume temporary editorial duties: "Some of the older dogs in Newmarket told me that there was about $2,000 lying idle in the treasury of the Newmarket Humane Society. I don't think that idleness is becoming to a dog nor to a dollar. Couldn't some constructive use be made of that money?" "Or even of the interest," we suggested. "What is interest?" said he.

Long aware that children can ask more difficult questions than adults, we now concluded that dogs were even worse than children. "It's something like rust," we attempted. "You put the money in the bank, and then, because of the atmosphere, the money corrodes, and you have interest. Anyway, Scamp, what would you think of using the interest to buy books, for the Newmarket public and separate schools, to help the children to learn to love and be kind to horses and dogs and cats?"

"Cats?" questioned Scamp. "They chase gold-fish." "Well, perhaps not cats," we replied, "but books like 'Black Beauty.'" "Sure, sure," agreed he, "books like 'Beautiful Joe,' 'Laddie, A Dog and 'White Fang.' Children like books about dogs, and I like children."

FIFTY YEARS ON

The nearby town and city-to-be of Barrie celebrated last week, with civic honors and other festivities, the completion, by J. Alex. MacLaren, of 50 years as editor of the Barrie Examiner. The Examiner, when Mr. MacLaren became editor, was one of several newspapers in the town; today it stands alone as the community's only newspaper and as one of the best weeklies in Canada. During 50 years, except for short holidays, Mr. MacLaren has week after week read and corrected the news material that has gone into the Examiner. He has an aversion for the phrase, "needless to say," and what has been needless to say he has stricken out. This untiring elimination of unnecessary sentences or words has resulted in a newspaper that is, like Jerusalem, or Newmarket's Main St., compactly built together, and a pleasure to read.

SWIMMING HOLE

Wouldn't a swimming-lake be an asset these summer days? Now that the boys are coming home we want to keep them home if possible. That will require jobs—of which the supply has not yet run out—and it will require recreational facilities. A swimming-lake, with a separate compartment for the beginners, and a wading-pool for the little ones, would make Newmarket a much pleasanter place to live.

McGILL CALLS DR. VIVIAN

The 1943 Ontario election threw into provincial prominence the personality of Dr. R. P. Vivian of Port Hope as member for Durham county and minister of health. Previously a comparatively unknown physician, Dr. Vivian proved himself an apt politician and a capable administrator. Although he did not follow the pattern which the pioneering Federation of Agriculture had suggested in its efforts to prepare public opinion for some form of state medicine, Dr. Vivian did plunge boldly into a municipal doctor scheme and a related county public health program.

Dr. Vivian does not believe in salaries for municipal doctors except where otherwise the doctor would not get a reasonable income. He believes not only that a doctor must be paid in accordance with the volume of work he does, but that fees are necessary to deter people from making needless and thoughtless demands on the doctor. Against this proposition, it can be said, first, that fee remuneration leaves the doctor with a motive for making unnecessary calls or treating as ill people who are not ill, and that it gives the doctor no motive for keeping people well, and, second, that fees (if not taken care of by health insurance) will prevent many people from consulting a doctor when they should (Dr. Vivian does not agree)—and the best time to consult a doctor may often be while one is still well or only slightly ill.

Dr. Vivian seems to regard the prevention of illness as principally a matter for a public health program, which includes control of communicable disease, sanitation, food control, maternal and infant hygiene, school child program. Dr. Vivian says that this public health program, requiring such specialized public health services as sanitary engineer, veterinary, public health education, public health doctors and nurses, would be too expensive for any one municipality to provide, and therefore he has devised the county health unit and states that the county could provide all these services for one-half to three-quarters of a mill.

Dr. Vivian says that the family doctor, whether he be a municipal doctor on fees or on salary, or an independent practising physician, would have some public health services at his back and at his beck, and that he would also have at his call such specialized curative services as good diagnostic facilities, hospitalization, specialist consultant services and special treatment services for cancer, tuberculosis, etc. Thus, says Dr. Vivian, prevention and cure are linked in the one doctor.

Dr. Vivian contends that his program provides for local autonomy. He states that a majority of the members of the county health board would be appointed by the county council, but it is the experience of York county people (a large county, it is true, with the seat of government in Toronto) that boards partly appointed by the county and partly appointed by the municipality are not particularly responsive to public opinion. Dr. Vivian's boards, partly appointed by the province, will be even less responsive. Dr. Vivian also states, in demonstrating how democratic is his program, that the local municipality would engage its municipal doctor or doctors, although the provincial municipal health services board would offer a doctor to the municipality for engagement and would determine his salary. There would be no direct bargaining between the doctor and the municipality.

Dr. Vivian's program is carefully thought out and awaits only applications from counties and municipalities, and an increase in the number of available doctors, nurses, engineers and veterinarians. In constructive criticism of this program, it can be argued that there will be no substantial improvement in public health until the family physician is paid to keep people well, and that the only way to pay a doctor for keeping people well is by salary. As long as doctors are paid according to the volume of sick people and sickness they treat doctors will have no special interest in keeping people well. Good health is at least half a matter of education and our family physicians should be not only doctors in the modern sense of patchers and tinkers but in the original sense of teachers. The relationship between the public and the doctor should be the same as that between the public and the clergyman, or the public and the school-teacher, only paid a little more fairly. Good doctors and nurses, supported by the special services which Dr. Vivian has promised, and by extensive general education, would be able to teach people how to have better health, so that municipal medicine would mean a reduction rather than an increase in the demand on the curative (and consolatory) services which doctors now provide.

Dr. Vivian's work has attracted the attention of McGill University, which has appointed him head of its medical faculty's department of health and social medicine. The announcement indicates that Dr. Vivian will not take over his new duties until Ontario's present health program is farther advanced. This may mean six months or a year or longer.

It is our suggestion to Premier George Drew that Dr. Vivian's successor should be not a doctor but a layman (as under the Hepburn government, which gave the province compulsory pasteurization of milk and the free treatment of tuberculosis before it grew weary of well-doing), and that the successor should be appointed now as a legislative secretary to Dr. Vivian. The new minister would then have the benefit of a full understanding of Dr. Vivian's point of view but he would owe no special loyalty to the Ontario Medical Association, for it is difficult not to conclude that the present minister is trying to please the medical profession as much as is possible in view of the public demand for preventive medicine. But a minister of the crown should represent the people at large without reservation, and not consider himself the guardian of the privileges and viewpoint of his own profession.

Medical men should be as interested as other citizens in improved health services and improved health standards, and many of them are, and are anxious to play their part in whatever role the public thinks desirable. Young doctors particularly, with years of low income still ahead of them, approve of state medicine plans. On the other hand, in the medical profession, as in every calling, there are those who are making a satisfactory income, and want to leave well enough alone. R. M. Coper wrote in Saturday Night of June 16: "To draw from this (excessive) prices for dental materials) and similar instances the conclusion that industrial cartels have the power to, and on occasion do, impair public health is hypocritical when at the same time there is no greater obstacle to the extension of public health services than certain cartels which call themselves 'medical associations.'"

Lest We Forget

Under this heading, it is proposed to discuss the problems facing the returning serviceman and how best they may be solved through the help of those at home.

The Editor, The Era and Express, writes in last week's issue under the heading Lest We Forget, seems to have worked himself into a dither because "Average Man" brought the church into discussion on its returning servicemen problems.

It reminded me of the story of the farmer taking a calf to market in tow with a rope and having to cross a bridge spanning a deep river. The calf became balky in the middle of the road. A motorist following had to stop his car. The farmer asked him to hold his horse. The man obliged, the calf came to life in the river and was drowned. The farmer started to blame the motorist, who in turn reminded him that he had asked him to hold the horse. The farmer replied that he was not expecting such a heck of a big foot for so small a calf.

In checking what we had said in the previous article re the church we found that we had used just 23 words in placing the church first on the list, as having the greater responsibility, spiritual value and direction in handling all problems relative to returning servicemen. Your correspondent's remarks constitute a real challenge to the church, and should be taken seriously by all thinking people.

Could it be possible "Man on the Street" is spending too much time on the street, and too little in the church?

If he had one eye half open and read the local paper, he could learn something of what the churches are really doing and get wise to the real message of the church. The announced open-air service to be conducted by the united churches every Saturday evening would be his one real opportunity.

We cannot too strongly commend Rev. A. B. Stein, and his co-workers, for their splendid memorial broadcast dedicated to the memory of those who gave their all for king and country.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales is reported as saying at the memorial dedication service that the great solution for the world's trouble was found in the message of the church. He said that through the memorial broadcast the message would reach many more. Truer words were never spoken. The United Church of Canada seems to have a real problem on its hands. The 1941 census shows 2,204,875 as professing faith in the United Church but the officials can only account for 734,350. Dr. Jesse Arnup, moderator, refers to the unreported as "the lost tribe." It is just possible that some of the stray sheep are around Newmarket, and the memorial broadcast may be the means of restoring them to the fold. This would be real church co-operation indeed.

When referring to the power of the church in my first letter we used three words, "when functioning properly," note not "perfectly." There is no perfect church on earth. A writer in the Montreal Daily Star tells us what's wrong with the churches: "The average man must be carried with us if progress is to be permanent." Oliver Lodge. That is the basis of true democracy and is one doctrine that must be upheld till everyone realizes its truth and accepts it. The Christian church has always stood for the principle that men are equal in the sight of God and that life is more than a mere struggle for existence where the weakest has to go under. If you accept this truth do not stand idly by. Do something about it. At times the church has failed to live up to its own teaching because it had too many nominal Christians. They knew what was right but were not willing to work or fight for it. Help make your own church stronger, and a more vital force in the community by attending its services regularly and working for it."

We like the idea that men are equal in the sight of God. It gives one a fighting chance. This Montreal writer says there are too many unreal, name only, Christians but offers no sensible solution. It would seem wise if the present day church would get back to the early method of adding to the church, or rather let the Holy Spirit do the work, and then we believe things would happen.

Average Man.

YOU CAN LIVE WITHOUT HYDRO but...

Can you remember when making toast meant holding bread over red hot coals? ...and wash day meant hours of rubbing on a board? ...and all lamps had to be cleaned and trimmed every day? Lots of people do remember those days when it took hours of toil to perform tasks that can now be done electrically in a few minutes. In a comparatively short period of time they have seen electricity grow from a small beginning into one of the most important and beneficial services in the world to-day.

To bring the electrical way of living to more and more people, Hydro has harnessed Ontario's great water power resources to provide this Province with an abundant supply of low-cost electricity enjoyed by few places elsewhere in the world. This is largely because citizens of Ontario co-operated to organize and support Hydro, and have built it up through steadily increased use of its service. Hydro is completely self-supporting. It operates on a service-at-cost basis, and the more it is used the less it costs.

Here is how Hydro rates have dropped with increased use:

Year	Average Annual domestic use kilowatt-hours	Average cost per kilowatt-hour
1914..	270	5¢
1924..	960	1.9¢
1934..	1716	1.5¢
1943..	2220	1.19¢

As you plan your post-war home remember that you will want more and more electrical comforts. When you build or remodel, be sure that your home is wired adequately, with plenty of wall and other outlets in every room. Plan wisely now to take full advantage of this Hydro of yours.

New Garbage Plan Soon In Operation Deputation Is Told

A deputation of residents from the east side of Newmarket was present at the town council meeting on Monday evening to see what the council intended to do regarding the condition of Queen St. dump.

"We have come tonight to find out what can be done regarding the town dump," Bert Smith, spokesman for the deputation, stated. "We have heard rumors regarding it. We would like to get rid of the nuisances. The dump is getting bigger instead of smaller. The playground (at Queen and Charles Sts.) for the kiddies has been filled up with rubbish. We would like some idea as to what you are going to do for us in getting rid of that also."

"The different hatcheries in town throw rotten eggs there and on one occasion last summer the heat of the sun hatched the eggs and we had chickens running around as well as the other nuisances. We can't see any reason why we should have to put up with it. We think it is about time that something was done about getting rid of it. We brought a petition before you several years ago but nothing has been done."

"We realize that during the war it has been impossible to get an incinerator but they are loosening up in certain points and it should be possible before long."

"I think everyone of you will emphasize what a dirty nuisance it has been," Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales said. "The only reason I have kept from complaining is that there is no one to complain to but myself. I don't know how you have put up with it as long as you have. We thought of building an incinerator on the same lot but it was too expensive and like a lot of other things we have let it go."

"We employed a man to try and remedy this a few weeks ago. This council has taken a great deal of trouble to try and purchase a piece of land so that we can dispose of garbage and so that washings can be hung out on Monday without any smoke or odors. We have paid for it but we haven't got the deed. I promise you before this summer is out we will have satisfactory garbage conditions in town."

N. L. Mathews, K.C., town solicitor, explained to the deputation that they had been negotiating for some time to purchase a piece of land. He said that if the council agreed with a proposition he would present to them later they would have something concrete to offer before long.

"Will there be the smoke, nuisance to put up with during the summer or will it be cleared up entirely?" asked Mr. Smith.

"When we stop using the dump we are going to cover it up entirely," Dr. Dales said.

"We can't guarantee that there won't be any fires or smoke," Councillor A. V. Higginson, chairman of the property committee, stated. "People will dump garbage and children will light it and by morning it has a pretty good start."

"Won't this depend a good deal upon when you get permission to use this property?" Councillor George Byers asked.

"When we start using the new property we will get the brass band out," Mr. Higginson laughed.

"We are going to use the property as soon as we get the deed in our hands," Dr. Dales said. "We are not going to wait until we get an incinerator built and the garbage will be stopped absolutely from being dumped here. We must have a town garbage collection and council will have to talk it over. Everyone used to sending children down there with their garbage will have to stop it. Everyone will have to pay for it—not the owner of the property but the tenants are going to pay for it—and we are going to have absolute garbage collection. It will be done regularly and politely and will not be a money-making scheme."

"The policy of the council will be decided by the council and you can't announce a policy now," Deputy-Reeve A. D. Evans stated. "It will be cleaned up to a certain extent but you can't clean it up in a month or so. There is a shortage of help and time and money are needed. If the citizens would have a bee they could clean it up in a short time."

"Why should we clean up other people's garbage?" a member of the deputation wanted to know.

"Can you control the smoke to a point?" Mr. Smith asked. "You will find that 90 percent of the fires are not started by children."

"A lot of the fires are caused by spontaneous combustion," Councillor Frank Bowser said.

"Come back and see us again if something isn't done," Dr. Dales told the deputation.

"What about Queen and Charles Sts.?" asked Mr. Smith. "There used to be a playground for the kiddies. Now the garbage and brush are dumped right out to Charles St. The minute a fire is lit you practically have to stand there with a bucket of water. Will it be levelled out so kiddies can get back in?"

Councillor Frank Bowser said the Lions club had hired a man to keep a ball diamond in shape back of Quinlan's factory. The deputation was assured that the brush would be cleaned up and the garbage would be dumped in the new property. The Queen St. dump will be cleaned up.

DUTCHMAN IS APOLOGETIC TO CANADIAN

"First of all, I wish to thank you for the cigarettes which arrived yesterday and you can be assured they are very welcome around here," Pte. Cyril Roberts writes from Hilversum, Holland, in a letter of appreciation to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "Sorry I have not written you sooner but better late than never, they say. Am feeling fine just now and having a fair good go of it but would just as leave be back in Canada again now that it's all over."

"I am enclosing you a letter from a friend of mine here and he explains the situation very well and every word of it is quite true. One really appreciates the victory the Allies have won over here and as the fellows say, if the Jerries had ever gotten in Canada one could say 'we've had it'."

"We had a very good church service this morning and our regiment paraded there and back. It is fine out today but the past week has been a wet one. It seems to rain a lot here. Was out sizing up the city here yesterday and it's really a very fine place. There didn't seem to be a poor district here at all, although the people are poor now and the most of the stores are empty. The Germans have taken watches and pens and all the good things."

"The people buy the rations at certain points regularly. Where they get the money now, I don't know. Very few work. I asked a young chap of 16 in short knee pants and about six feet tall about a hard-tack biscuit he was eating. He said they got a lot of food from an aeroplane one day. A lot of the young people can speak very good English. They took it up in school in pre-war days. The older people are not so good and me speaking Dutch not so good either."

"The girls are very good looking. Don't be surprised if you see a lot of Dutch girls returning to Canada with the soldiers."

"The work we do here brings us face to face with the Germans at times and I have seen all I want to see of them already. We went to a German camp and took horses away from them. They had a couple of hundred and they refused to hand any of them over. We had loaded rifles and we got 15 horses."

"Everyone agrees Holland is really a fine place with all its windmills, flat table land, paved and cobble roads and a great taste for flowers."

The letter referred to in Pte. Roberts' letter addressed to him is from a resident of Hilversum, the Dutch city spoken of by Pte. Roberts. The letter follows:

"Sometimes I suppose that you will carry away an unfavorable opinion about the Dutch to your country. That you will have an impression of them as beggars and loungers who all are ready to truck away their souls and bliss for a few cigarettes. That's not the case. You can see what five years of war and occupation have made of a hard-working, wealthy, sober and intelligent people. Most of the Dutchmen have saved merely a little bit of morality and manners."

THE NEWMARKET ERA AND EXPRESS, THURSDAY, JUNE 21ST, 1945

"They are famished and hard up for so many things; their poorer instincts ultimately predominated all other ones. I am ashamed for that. You must keep a sharp look-out when you are doing a swap here. There are those who foist upon you all sorts of trash with pleasure for good prices. However, there are those too who would barter away in a flush all that they have saved carefully during five years of war. Neither one thing nor the other redounds to their credit. It's a great pity for this poor people to have such an attitude. The people fall by these means in the estimation of all the world. Anew it must be educated just as a little schoolboy."

"After some time you will return home and carry away an opinion of a race of men near the North Sea as having quite the same qualities as the notorious and forbidding natives of Port Said, the slums and harbor-quarters of Marseilles and Barcelona and other international seaport towns. It would not be a good advertisement for us if you gave a commentary to your family and friends on your adventures among the inhabitants of the Netherlands. Still the traditional qualities live on in our people but they are rusty now and we had no time to polish them."

"There is a lot of indignation and criticism about the fact that a street crowd is caused by a Canadian lighting a cigarette. I saw it myself the first days of the arrival of the troops. Well, the people had nothing more and they all dreamed about a land of Cockaigne. Quite recently I saw a man who was knocked down by a carrier while he was picking up a stump from the street. Captain Jarvis exchanged 5,000 cigarettes for a mummy in Groningen. Before the war we lived in abundance and had plenty and we were always good hosts for our guests. During the war the mice popped off because the pantry was empty."

"We had six and a half ounces of bread a week and no more, no milk, butter, flesh, potatoes, meal, vegetables, eggs, etc., etc. There was no question about tobacco or table luxuries. We had barely enough to live on and must do without shoes, clothes sometimes. The Germans dis-trained all things of worth and many of us exchanged old silver, gold, clothes, shoes, linen and crockeries and so on for food at famine prices with the farmers! The upshot was that they have now nothing more."

"Remember in former times the Dutch cigars and gin (Hollands), the spices and all that made our cooking so world-famous? The money, we have, depreciated. We lost many of our properties. For so many families are victims of war and more sorrows than you can think when you are looking at all these flags and colors.

"After some weeks you return to your home and family and the greatest adventure in your life has ended, the war is over. For the peaceful environs of your farm, your office, your common work, at table at home, you will be together with your memories, pretty ones and bad ones, merry ones and sad ones. The deuce! Once upon a time there was a Dutch chess player."

"Some of you were boys when they departed from the country and are now quite worldly wise, grown men, coming back. The family will see the great difference and perhaps you will see Europe, this old world, never again. But only one request I have: write a letter to me about things at home, your future, your doings in your own world, if you like. Done? And don't forget our thanks for all Canadian friendship and relief."

A footnote on the bottom says: "We lost so many a friend, now we fight for a cigarette!"

ARMY HONORS TWO FAITHFUL WORKERS

A retired treasurer's certificate was awarded to S. John Southgate during the Sunday morning service at the Salvation Army Citadel.

Mr. Southgate has been the corps' treasurer for 25 years. Although he is nearly 90 and his health does not permit him to attend the services as often as he used to, he still manages to attend most Sunday morning services.

He came from England and has held other local offices in the corps. He played in the army's band here for a number of years. During the evening service, Mrs. Annie Cowan was awarded a retired Home League treasurer's certificate. Mrs. Cowan has rendered service both as Home League secretary and treasurer for 29 years. She has been a local officer for 44 years, during which time she has held such positions as Y.P.S.M. (Sunday-school superintendent), Y. P. treasurer, Sunday-school teacher and other offices.

GARAGE OPERATORS WANT CLOSING LAW

Tom Birrell and Cecil Taylor presented a petition to Newmarket town council on Monday evening on behalf of Newmarket garage operators, asking that the council pass a by-law setting service station hours.

Hours set forth were: Monday to Friday, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Saturday, 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Sunday, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Mr. Birrell stated that only one garage would be open on Sunday and the operators would alternate.

"Have you considered alternating as far as evenings are concerned?" asked N. L. Mathews, K.C., town solicitor. "It has handicapped a lot of people having the stations closed at night. People passing through might be in a serious position in case of an emergency."

Mr. Birrell said that garage employees were allowed to work only eight hours a day and anything over that was overtime.

"We can't afford to pay a man to stay open," he said. "What did you do in the old days?" Dr. Dales asked. "There wasn't a 48-hour week then," said Mr. Birrell. "We can't work that long."

"Will he only sell gas?" asked Dr. Dales. "The idea is just a headliner to keep the people from getting into the old way," explained Mr. Taylor. "Garage operators have been told they are going to stay open or else. We don't want that to happen."

Councillor Joseph Vale suggested that a by-law be introduced at the next council meeting and the matter be discussed then.

In Memoriam

Chantler—In loving memory of our dear little nephew and grandson, Charles (Buddy) Chantler, who went to be with Jesus, June 22, 1937.

He was a flower too sweet for earth. Sent here but for a while, God marked him when He gave him birth.

And took him with a smile. A little lamb too sweet and pure Upon this earth to roam, An angel came and swiftly took Our darling Buddy home.

Gathered by Jesus in all his childish purity. A beautiful snowdrop to bloom in the garden of heaven.

Always lovingly remembered by his Grandma Jones and aunts and uncles.

Prior—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, James Prior, who died June 21, 1944.

Gone is the face we loved so dear, Silent is the voice we loved to hear; Too far away for sight or speech But not too far for thought to reach.

Sweet to remember him who once was here, And who, though absent, is just as dear.

Ever remembered by wife and sons, Gordon and James.

Stuffles—In loving memory of my dear husband, Charles Stuffles, who died June 22, 1944.

When days are dark and friends are few, Dear husband, how I think of you; Friends are friends if they are true, I lost my best friend when I lost you.

Ever remembered by his wife.

NEWMARKET SOLDIER DIVIDES FAGS WITH OTHER BOYS

"Many thanks for the cigarettes and gum I have received from time to time," Cfn. John Williams writes in a letter of appreciation to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "As I get a lot of cigarettes I usually divide the ones I get from you among the other boys who do not get many. I am sure you will not mind me doing this, as I know you Veterans aim to help all you can. Over here we share our things, likely in much the same manner as many of you did during the last war."

"Now that Germany has given in, we are all thinking of getting back home. Of course we know it will not be for a time yet but at least that time seems in view now. It was with joy and great thanksgiving that we heard the news. If only the Japs were beaten then surely we could look forward to peace, which we hope will last."

Notes of appreciation have also been received by the Veterans from Pte. H. E. Haines and Pte. W. W. Young.

GANTNER SAYS CAMP HAS REAL PROGRAM

By BERNIE GANTNER

Another Dominion Day spells another big celebration at Newmarket Military Camp. Monday, July 2, is the occasion for the annual Dominion Day celebration at No. 23, and all indications are that this important event will be as successful as its predecessors in entertainment and fun-making for the personnel of the camp and all the civilian friends invited to this gala affair.

As in former years the entire day will be devoted to sports, which will include a men's softball tournament, a girls' softball competition, track and field events, a tug-of-war match, a tennis road race and a boxing show. For those less inclined towards sports, there will be military drill competitions, a physical training demonstration, a gas chamber demonstration and a midway.

Capt. Tom George, camp sports officer and Dominion Day organizer, has lined up an excellent program, which will run continuously from early morning until well after 12 bells midnight. For all the sports competitions good prizes, in some cases cash, have been obtained, to be awarded to the winners of the various events.

The men's softball tournament will have five senior teams battling it out for the honors and cash prize. Teams representing Camp Borden Infantry, Toronto Navy (Beaches league), Toronto R.C.A.F., Toronto Provost Corps and Newmarket camp will show their wares. In the ladies' competition, the C.W.A.C. of No. 23 will tangle with the C.W.A.C. of Kitchener basic training centre. Two clubs from the Sunnyside Ladies' league are to provide the fireworks in a second contest.

For track and field an outstanding card will see crack service teams and individuals competing. A ten-mile road race will star such top-ranking marathoners as Sgt. Scotty Rankine, R.C.A.F., Cpls. Alister Cameron and Milt Wallace of the army. Male civilian entries are welcomed in this event, as well as in the 100 and 440 yards dashes.

A vaudeville show will spotlight the early evening, the main attraction being a unit of the Army show. In addition No. 2 District Depot band will render melodies before and after the performance. Boxing bouts will be staged in the drill hall. Such top-notch pugilists as Len Wadsworth, middle-weight champion of Canada, and Ted Swain, promising Toronto lightweight, will appear on the bill.

BRITISH-ISRAEL MAN, EDWARD VINCENT DIES

The funeral service was held in Toronto this afternoon. Interment was made in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Mr. Vincent was present when the Newmarket branch was formed and always spoke of himself as the father of the Newmarket branch. He was a welcome visitor to many meetings and his addresses were an inspiration to all his hearers. He has recently been lecturing across Canada and in the U.S.A.

Mrs. Carlyle Peterson Has Best Iris Specimen

Mrs. John Klees captured the best collection award and Mrs. Carlyle Peterson won the award for the best single specimen in the iris show held by the Aurora Horticultural Society in Aurora Salvation Army citadel on Saturday. The entries, while not high, were superlative in quality and the event attracted a large number of visitors.

Winners in the various classes, judged by Charles Harman, Newmarket, were:

Purple, William Profit, Mrs. Klees; light blue, Mrs. C. Peterson, William Profit; dark blue, Mrs. Klees; lavender, pink or mauve, James Raeside, Mrs. Klees; yellow, Wm. Profit, Mrs. Klees; bronze, Wm. Profit, Mrs. Klees; any other color, Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Klees.

Best collection, Mrs. Klees, Wm. Profit, Jas. Raeside; best specimen, Mrs. C. Peterson; pyrethrum, C. A. Adair, W. Profit; aquilegia, Miss E. Murray, Mrs. Peterson; lupins, C. Adair, W. Profit; pansies, Mrs. W. E. Richardson, Miss E. Murray.

The single specimen exhibited by Mrs. Peterson had four blooms and eight buds and was over four feet in height.

The society has recently planted three large flower beds in its town beautification program. Two variety beds have been planted on Yonge St. in front of the arena and one has been planted on Tyler St. on the United church lawn.

Considerable interest has been shown in the school garden project sponsored by the society among Aurora school children. Fifty-two children have been provided with seeds and are hard at work on their plots. The judging will take place in the fall.

The next show to be held will be a peony show.

The church was beautifully decorated with peonies, irises and ferns. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. R. White, Aurora. Miss Elva Pattenden, sister of the bride, was maid of honor in flowered blue organza with matching halo and shoulder-length veil. Her flowers were pink carnations and orange blossoms. Miss Betty Foote, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. She wore a pink sheer gown, with matching halo and a shoulder-length veil. Her corsage was of Sweetheart roses. ## Way To Be Opened To King Township Conservation Plan Legislation was introduced at the last session of the legislature and will be re-introduced at the next session and passed to permit the setting up of local conservation and flood control authorities in river valley areas, Hon. Dana Porter, Ontario minister of planning and development, told The Era and Express last week.

Mr. Porter was asked to comment on a reported statement of York county council post-war planning committee that legislation would establish a commission to study and assess costs of flood control for the Etobicoke and Humber rivers. Mr. Porter explained that a deputation had visited him concerning the Etobicoke and Humber rivers and that he had told them of the general legislation which would enable interested municipalities to unite to carry out flood control and conservation plans.

"They seemed satisfied with the legislation," said Mr. Porter. "It is up to the municipalities to take the initiative?" he was asked. "Yes, that's right," said Mr. Porter.

Mr. Porter was asked if he were familiar with the survey of King township made for Aubrey Davis, Newmarket, by K. M. Mayall in 1937 and 1938 with its recommendations for restoration of King township's various branches of the Humber and other streams rising in King township.

HON. DANA PORTER

"Oh yes," said Mr. Porter, commenting that the King township and Ganaraska (emptying into Lake Ontario at Port Hope) surveys were the "classic examples" of the need for conservation measures in Ontario.

Under the promised legislation the municipalities affected, perhaps crossing county boundaries, establish an authority which has power to expropriate land for reforestation, to build dams and complete other engineering works, Mr. Porter said.

WOMEN PROMOTE REST ROOM PLAN

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales appointed Councillors A. V. Higginson and George Byers to form a committee with two members of the Newmarket Women's Institute for the purpose of discussing a supervised ladies' rest room for Newmarket and the adjacent community, at a town council meeting on Monday evening.

Mrs. N. L. Mathews, president of the Newmarket W.I., Mrs. Elton Armstrong, 1st vice-president, Mrs. W. J. Geer, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Max Smith, 2nd vice-president, appeared before the council to ask what was being planned. Money raised by the W.I. at the ice carnival has been set aside for this purpose.

"The ladies represented here tonight are from the Newmarket Women's Institute," Mrs. Mathews explained. "We have come to discuss a supervised rest room for Newmarket and the adjacent community. Our W.I. has told us that we can definitely promise to furnish one adequately."

Mrs. Mathews said the ladies were ready to contribute between $250 and $300 a year to the project, as well as providing the initial furnishings.

"The present executive is in office for two years," Mrs. Mathews said. "The next executive may do even more. We would like to know if you are willing to go ahead with the present set-up in the back of the present municipal building or if you are considering a new municipal building."

"On behalf of the country women, I might say that this project is very badly needed," Mrs. Elton Armstrong stated. "We are encouraged to do our shopping at home but a mother will not bring a child into a town that has this condition. Our Institute has raised $2,300 during the past year for war work which has been spent almost entirely on town boys. We women outside of Newmarket who belong to the Newmarket W.I. have worked hard and the boys outside of the town have not benefitted. We have come to discuss the matter, but we do feel that something along these lines should be undertaken in the near future."

"I do not think I can add anything but I do feel that we should know definitely how that room will be equipped," said Mrs. Max Smith. "If you will put in the proper facilities, we will furnish it."

In reply to a question from Councillor Joseph Vale as to the cost of the upkeep, Mrs. Max Smith replied that it would cost $13 a week for a supervisor. She explained that although the wage was rather low, the supervisor had the option of doing other work while there.

"I quite agree with what the ladies have said," Councillor Frank Bowser stated. "I think it is an important thing and certainly badly needed in the town. At one time the property committee was going to see what could be done and what could not be done, and at another time the proposition came along that we might have a new memorial hall in the town, which would be much more suitable."

"It was a matter of getting through the war," said Dr. Dales. "Now that it is over and we have a lower tax rate we are going to get a chance to do something. I suggest that Mr. Higginson and Mr. Byers meet with two representatives from the W.I. and have a report for us at the next meeting. You can discuss the estimated cost and the maintenance and cost of installing such a place and you have my very best wishes that it will be established this summer without waiting till fall. I want to congratulate the W.I. again for doing something for this town."

Bowser Wants Bandstand

"The Lions club is considering putting a building up in the park for washroom facilities," Councillor Frank Bowser stated at a town council meeting on Monday evening.

"The building will be 12 feet square and will be cement," he said. "I am opposed to it. I think we should make the building larger, with a cement roof that a bandshell can be erected on. We've talked a good many times about a bandshell. It would cost about $1,500 complete. The basement part could be put up this year. The building should be 24' x 20'."

"Don't you think the council should decide where the bandstand should go?" Deputy-Reeve A. D. Evans asked.

"I think council should be consulted in these matters perhaps a little sooner than they are," Dr. Dales said.

"We need a more co-operative spirit," commented Councillor J. L. Spillotte.

"Is the Lions club park the most appropriate place?" asked Deputy-Reeve Evans.

"We have to make up our minds about this bandshell," said Mayor Dales. "I would like to have the town be represented and we would like the Lions' help." "There should be an advisory committee," said Deputy-Reeve Evans.

The Era and Express office will be open Saturday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30, and not Saturday afternoons, for the summer months.

The Era and Express may be purchased in Newmarket at Spillotte's, Best's, Bolton's, Campbell's and Bell's.

MILK DRIVER'S LICENSE CANCELLED FOR YEAR

"During my short time as relief magistrate in this court, there have been cases which resulted in two fatalities caused by boys like you fooling around with cars," Magistrate W. E. McIlveen pointed out to Howard Longhurst, 23, Newmarket, in magistrate's court in Newmarket on Friday when he appeared to answer a charge of dangerous driving on Main St. in Newmarket. "There were two boys killed in this vicinity. I am going to make an example of you for other boys of your age. I find you guilty of the charge and fine you $25 and costs amounting to $12. On default of payment you go to jail for 30 days. I am also going to cancel your license to drive for one year."

Constable G. W. Curtis, Newmarket, testified that he had been patrolling Main St. at midnight on June 10 when the defendant, with two other youths, drove in a dangerous manner along Main St. He stated that Mr. Longhurst "honked" the horn of his car and caused quite a lot of noise.

"He drove his car a little way up Botsford St. then backed down and on to Main," stated the officer. "I got down off the sidewalk and tried to stop him. The car came straight at me as if to run me down and then swerved out."

The officer stated that he had warned the accused on previous occasions about driving about the streets between midnight and two o'clock in the morning honking the horn of his car and causing a noise.

In his defence, Mr. Longhurst denied that he had been "clowning about with the car and trying to scare the police officer." He admitted that he had been warned by the police officer on a previous occasion. Questioned by the woman, the defendant stated that he was employed in driving a truck for a dairy.

"This man was simply clowning around the streets with his car," Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong told his worship. "It is hard to think that he deliberately tried to hit the police officer but he did drive in a dangerous manner." Mr. Armstrong intimated that the police were having considerable trouble with other young people driving about the streets in the middle of the night and causing a disturbance and asked that the defendant be made an example of to others.

"I realize that you need your license for your work in the dairy," Magistrate McIlveen told Mr. Longhurst. "I am cancelling it for one year. If need be, you will have to change your job."

After hearing evidence in the case of the Sutton Dairy and Creamery, Sutton, which is charged with supplying butter to buyers without receiving the ration coupons on the day of purchase or the day of delivery, contrary to the wartime prices and trade regulations, Magistrate McIlveen decided to reserve his judgment for one week.

J. J. Bridges of the wartime prices and trade board testified that he had investigated the Sutton Dairy and Creamery and found that it had sold butter to a number of stores and dairies and instead of collecting the coupons on or before the day of delivery, collected them at the end of the month. This, he said, was contrary to the regulations.

Mr. Burrows, owner of the Sutton Dairy and Creamery, admitted on the stand that he did not collect the coupons until the end of the month from larger buyers to whom he shipped butter but stated that about 75 percent of the butter sold was sold to customers from the dairy wagons and that for each pound of butter sold the coupon was collected at the time of the sale. He explained that for the other 25 percent, where butter was sent to other dairies or stores for sale, it was difficult for these buyers to send coupons in advance in order that they might be received at the time of the shipping of the butter. He stated that these smaller dairies had to turn in the coupons from their customers before they could purchase more butter from their dairy.

Mr. Burrows added that he felt that he had used the maximum care in collecting the coupons in spite of the difficulty he had with the shortage of help, increased bookkeeping due to unemployment insurance and income tax deductions, selective service regulations and rationing regulations. In addition, he said, his bookkeeper had been ill for a time.

Miss B. E. Lyons, who was acting for the prosecution, informed his worship that the board was not asking for a heavy penalty to be imposed on the defendant.

Other cases disposed of by Magistrate McIlveen were: James E. Kidd, Malton, and Oscar Buckle, Toronto, each fined $1 and costs for entering a stop street, and Elbone R. Wigle, Goderich, fined $1 and costs for illegal parking. Chief Constable James Leeder laid the information in the first case and Constable Robert Martin in the last two cases.

At the request of the crown, the case of Harry McLean, 68 Snider Ave., Toronto, charged with dangerous driving and with careless driving, was adjourned for another week. This case was laid at the instigation of Constable Gus Farquhar, Schomberg.

CANCEL MEN'S RINKS, GET LADY BOWLERS' HELP

The Newmarket men's bowling club has cancelled the rinks tournament scheduled for Saturday, June 23, and are replacing them with mixed rinks. Prizes will be given for all three wins, high two and high one. Entries may be sent to C. F. Willis or H. J. Luck. The draw will be made at one o'clock the day of the tournament.

SOIL TESTING IS LIKE A BANK BOOK

Soil Testing Service, like a bank book, shows what's in there to take out. And that's not all. Soil Testing, in experienced hands, indicates what steps may be taken to balance the plant-food of the soil so that substantial yields of best quality crops may be produced; how to maintain the soil in a high state of fertility.

Experts agree that soil testing is very important if the great food-growing job that Canadian farmers have done during this war is to be continued throughout the post-war period. It is one of many valuable services that progressive farmers can obtain from their agricultural colleges or experimental stations . . . for the asking.

Money is another important service that Canadian farmers need. And thousands of them have obtained this from The Bank of Toronto during the past 90 years. The manager of out nearest branch will be found sympathetic to the problems of every responsible farmer . . . friendly, practical, willing to give the utmost financial service possible.

THERE'S ENOUGH IN THE SUGAR BOWL... If we all share equally

We Canadians, together with the citizens of the United States and Great Britain, will eat less sugar during the balance of 1945.

To meet our own needs and the urgent requirements of our Allies and the liberated countries, our share of the reduction must total nearly 200,000,000 pounds of sugar during the rest of the year.

To assure fair distribution of what is left, the sugar ration is to be cut by five pounds during the next seven months by reducing the monthly allotment to one pound in June, July, August, October and December. In September and November, the allowance will remain unchanged at two pounds.

The ten pound sugar allotment for home canning, represented by twenty extra preserves coupons, remains unchanged. Two regular preserves coupons will continue to become valid each month.

ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT SUGAR

Q. How does Canada get its share of world sugar supplies?

A. World stocks are pooled by the Combined Food Board of the United Nations which allocates sugar to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform per capita basis.

Q. Where does the rest of the world sugar supply go?

A. To other claimants, including liberated areas, European neutrals, Russia, the Middle East, New Zealand and other sugar-importing countries. Approximately one-half of this total is destined for liberated areas.

Q. Is there less sugar in the world today?

A. Yes. Because needs are up and production is down, world sugar stocks reached a new low at the beginning of 1945. By the end of the year, they will be down again, this time to a dangerous minimum.

Q. Why is there more demand for sugar?

A. The rising demand largely reflects the needs of liberated areas.

Q. Why is there less production?

A. World sugar output is lower for these reasons:

1. Enemy occupation of some sources such as Java and the Philippines. Java, of course, is still in Japanese hands and although the Philippines are liberated, production is not expected to be restored until late in 1946.
2. Other export countries have experienced serious shortages of labour and fertilizer.
3. Record drought conditions and hurricanes have also cut into production in the important West Indian area.

INDUSTRIAL AND QUOTA USERS WILL ALSO GET LESS

Effective July 1, 1945, sugar made available to industrial users, such as bakery, biscuit and confectionery manufacturers, makers of soft drinks, confectionery and candy, and jam and other manufacturers, will again be reduced.

A further cut is also being made in the allotment to quota users, such as public eating places, while similar reductions are being made by the Armed Forces in the sugar quotas for service personnel.

Hand Milking is on the Way Out

Freedom from the tiring and tiresome job of hand milking twice a day has been gained by thousands of farm families through the use of a modern milking machine.

One person can milk up to 20 cows in an hour with a milking machine—it keeps a good hand milker busy to milk 7 to 9 cows in the same time.

This saving of time and labor is important, especially when good farm help is hard to get, but at any time milking is a disliked chore that the family is glad to have taken off their hands. The hours of time saved with a milking machine does mean something in dollars and cents but it means a lot more in making farm life easier and more pleasant. Everybody welcomes the relief from the milking time blues that a milking machine brings.

The modern, practical and economical way to do things is to use machines instead of muscles wherever possible—that is why hand milking is out for dairymen who have experienced the comfort and convenience of a mechanical milker.

Among the time and labor saving machines your local Massey-Harris dealer has to offer is the Rite-Way Milker—the modern milker with the natural action. Ask him for particulars about this machine that does so much to make dairy farming easier and more profitable.

THE COMMON ROUND

By ISABEL INGLIS COLVILLE

DISTRICT ANNUAL AT NEWMARKET

There are some events to which one looks forward eagerly, enjoys thoroughly and looks back upon with retrospective pleasure.

Of these events the District Annual is one. There is something in the gathering together of a large group of women, joined in a common cause, which is inspiring and which gives one an added hope for the future of the homes and country for which they work.

The day — a fair and beautiful one — added its quota of the pleasure of the occasion and the large number who gathered at the United Church in Newmarket. Our beautiful O Canada, followed by the Opening Ode, formed a fitting prelude of patriotism and comradeship for the session.

The president then called on Mrs. C. W. Marchant for the minutes and, to me, this is always a highlight of the D.A. as Mrs. Marchant can make minutes sound like something profoundly interesting which, I think, is a mark of genius. Then came the address by our new president, Mrs. Boak. She said that with our country's facilities it should be easy to banish want, that the W.I.'s objective should be to the dissemination of knowledge relative to domestic economy, including household architecture, with special attention to home sanitation, a good working knowledge of the economic and hygienic value of food, clothing and fuel and the scientific care and training of children, with a view to raising the general standing of health and morals of our people. We should also give consideration to any problem or the carrying on of any line of work which has for its object the uplift of the home or the betterment of conditions surrounding community life.

In planning the post-war world, we should plan well and take careful account of the resources which are ours. Mrs. Marchant then gave the secretary-treasurer's report which showed a gratifying amount of money raised and well spent.

Mrs. Marchant was gratified at the way reports and fees had come in and the auditor's report given by Mrs. Sholls said that accounts were 100 percent correct. This was fine, as before Mrs. Marchant had been handicapped by the lack of full returns from the branches but this year every branch reported.

Mrs. Marchant explained too that the exchange on cheques sent in repleted the D.A. fund.

Mrs. McCullough's report on area convention expenses was read. The rates for that convention at the Royal York would be slightly higher and reservations should be made early.

Mrs. A. Ridley then gave her report on agriculture and Canadian industries. She received 17 reports.

One branch told of a meeting where a trip by C.N.R. and back by C.P.R. was taken and each province passed through discussed.

Other branches stressed our wonderful herds of cows and flocks of sheep from which came so much of our food and clothing; of our fruits; of whey for penicillin; of weaving wool on homemade looms; of bird life; the story of silk stockings; of plastics; of the dehydration of food and vegetables and eggs; of the wonderful uses of farm products in the new world; of bee keeping and management; ring-side judging; of milk raising and new Canadian industries.

Home Economics was given by Mrs. Johnson and 12 branches reported. Some of the topics and work taken up by these were: sayings of mother, growing of winter vegetables and canning, say something good of the one on your left, aids to shopping, habit training in small children, family co-operation on good nutrition, what to do for overseas boys when they come home, remodelling of clothes and new clothes from old, exhibition of clothes salvaged from ancient things, milky way by homemakers, preparing vegetables for quick freezing and time-saving kitchens.

Report on citizenship was given by Mrs. Boyd.

One branch gave a bale of clothing to fire sufferers. Others reported the need for women on school boards; a discussion on how to help boys to become established on their return; granite ware shower was given to a war bride; five schools were given instruction on what we understand by democracy, youth must learn to seize and use its opportunities; vocal training and music appreciation sponsored in schools; an art exhibit given; adult education necessary to check juvenile delinquency; husbands were entertained at euchre; township schools discussed; what we owe to our forefathers; memorial park worked for; a message to young Canadians and tomorrow's Canada.

A delightful interlude came here when a young lady whose name I did not catch sang God Will Bring You Back To Me, and America. Both selections were well rendered and beautifully accompanied.

Report on history research was given by Mrs. Lound-es, 13 branches reporting. Items reported mentioned current events at all meetings, papers on history research, on St. George's church, Sibbald's Point, growth of Whitchurch township, founded by Quakers and Mennonites, history of village names, Tweedsmuir village histories, history of Keswick, history of old bridges, monuments, of Georgian township, General Booth. Mr. Walton gave a talk on farm and pioneer life.

Mrs. J. Laviolette gave report on social welfare. Branch reports told of contributions to Queen Mary cot. to the blind, first aid for schools, fruit and candy for York County home, sick folks were visited, many were blood donors, war brides were welcomed, furnishings for new wing in hospital were donated, flowers sent to sick and shut-ins, hospitalization made available for members, health insurance and dental clinics stressed, the care of a baby from birth told of, one dollar a month given to a badly burned boy in hospital.

War work report was given by Mrs. Willis. She reported the branches as having contributed yarn and seeds for Britain, milk also for Britain, contributions to Russian, Chinese and Indian relief and to the emergency war fund. Socks, sweaters, quilts, large and small, and layettes were given. Mrs. Willis stressed that the value of all contributions should be given. Money was raised by all sorts of ways and means.

I am omitting Miss Collins' address which was a highlight of the meeting, but as it was practically the same as that in the Era and Express last week from Zephyr, it did not need to be repeated.

After refreshing the inner man or woman at the lunch hour, we returned to take up where we left off.

The meeting resumed with the singing of The Maple Leaf and There'll Always Be An England, followed by an address of welcome by Mr. Cockburn. He said that women had done a grand job in war time and now had the added responsibility of living in one of the flour bins of the world and our responsibility reached out to all the liberated countries. We must not relax our efforts now that the boys are beginning to come back home.

Food is one of the best weapons of peace and he thanked the W.I.'s for helping the agricultural office. Each W.I. is a local service club as it takes interest in community welfare. Women in the country MAKE time for this sort of work — the men are too busy! Agricultural representatives are accused of too much enthusiasm over the dairy cow — it's not the cow, said Mr. Cockburn, it's the boys and girls behind this — they are the citizens of tomorrow.

He advised the W.I. to send leaders among the girls to train school twice a year. Mr. Cockburn, in the name of the town officials, welcomed the members to Newmarket.

Mrs. Weir replied stating our pleasure in his kind welcome and his address.

The roll-call was well responded to. Mrs. Colville gave report on publicity. The branches were all beginning to see that "it pays to advertise". They used the press, the radio, the telephone and personal contacts to bring the work of the Institute home to their communities and the world at large.

They feel they have something worth publicizing and they're doing it through the means mentioned and through teas, bazaars and other means.

Mrs. Sinclair spoke on the Federation Of Agriculture. Co-operation was stressed as a great need.

A fee of five dollars enables a federal director to vote. Without this fee, no vote. They would like to see each branch contribute to confederation. Farmers need to be well educated in their own work. Forums are good for discussions. Miss Clark in an address had said we must make our home life more attractive, also there should be more short courses.

Then came two recitations by Michael Murphy and they were splendid. That little boy will be an orator some day. Mrs. Hamilton of the Federated Board spoke next.

Federated Board consists of 20 members with president and secretary. The board discusses and passes on resolutions. They urge the making of resolutions for in so doing we are bringing the time of their accomplishment nearer. If women want things the members must be interested.

Federation fees must be in by February 1. There should be an oath to the king AND Canada. Contact Institute from which any member has gone. The first shipment of clothes for France has arrived. A suggestion as to the 50th anniversary is a scholarship in household science. The Blue Cross Plan is being looked into. The Institutes are more needed than ever and their suggestions re all things are asked for.

Miss Clark, to the regret of all, has resigned her post, which will be hard to fill. She was presented with an oil painting.

Three resolutions were presented by Miss Starr, convener. Two, relating to introduction of household science and manual training in rural schools and the return to standard time, were passed. A third was passed and then left for further consideration.

The brief bag was presented to King Institute.

The election of officers found very few changes. Miss Starr retired from resolutions, Mrs. Willis from war work and Mrs. A. Boyd from alternating on Federated Board.

Votes of thanks to the church board and to all who helped in any way to make the meeting a success were tendered and another meeting, ending with God Save The King, slipped away into the past but not into the realm of forgotten things — its echoes abide.

A musical contest proved interesting. A line was read from an old song and contestants tried to guess the title, which proved quite difficult. Mrs. Wilbert Anderson was the winner. It was decided to dispense with sending cigarettes overseas and to pool the remaining war money with funds collected during the summer and plan an appropriate welcome for the boys coming home.

YOUR SOW IS LIKE A COW!

Yes sir—a nursing sow is a lot like a cow. Grain alone won't give you top milk production from a cow. It won't give you top milk production from a sow. To make either of them milk heavily and persistently you have to feed her a milk-making ration.

And it's really important to your pocketbook to make your sow milk well. When a sow has plenty of good rich milk for her sucking pigs, they come right along. When she hasn't, they don't. Government survey figures show over 20% of all pigs dying before weaning . . . 1 in every 5, a total loss . . . mostly caused by lack of milk.

Feed your sow for milk. Turn your chop into a good milk-making ration by mixing in 1 lb. of Purina Sow & Pig Chow for every 2 lbs. of grain. Let the little fellows help themselves to the same mixture. That will get them used to solid feed, and lift them over weaning without a setback.

DOWN THE CENTRE

some of Professor Jawn ("The Deacon") Allen's Massey Hall shows, is now posted at No. 23 and will be seen doing his stuff too.

"Baby" Yack, who was at Newmarket camp this time last year, will probably be seen in action too and shortly we hope to give you the list of the complete card. It will make a fine prelude to the big dance which will bring the day to a close.

Newmarket softballers (we mean camp) have secured entry into the Toronto Garrison league comprising eight teams, and while there are some fair teams in the circuit, the Redmen of Lieut. Bob Kennedy should be able to take the honors with something to spare.

Roy Murden, who is doing the catching this season, was generally regarded as the best young pitcher in the Beches league last season and he gives the boys from No. 23 their best receiving over the years.

Bob King from Brantford who, while on hand last season, didn't do much work on the mound, is carrying the pitching burden along with "Joint" McComb and Jackie Moon has yet to make a start but will do so shortly. There is other talent around too.

Tom Jamieson is handling the first base post vacated by Lieut. Joe Fennell and doing it as well as he did his outfield chores last summer. Jamieson is also a power hitter.

Bernie Gantner, the old reliable, is back for his fourth season at second base and doing a sprightly chore too. Johnny Callanan is handling the shortstop post with elan and is said to like it better than the pastures where he had few superiors. Billy Taylor replaces Bill Paisley and Clair Exelby at shortstop and leaves little to be desired.

"Bep" Guidolin is the top ranking outfielder and the ex-Boston Bruins star is just as vociferous with the umpires as he was with the hockey referees. He is a mighty sweet player too.

"Ty" Tyson, a newcomer from the Niagara peninsula, is displaying virtuosity at field and at bat and Harvie Avison, now like Callanan and Jamieson, in his second year with the team, is able to go and get them as per usual. There is plenty of reserve strength to be called upon if necessary and of course such old standbys as Capt. Eric Osborne and Sgt. Jack ("Cecagers") McDonald are around to keep things moving. We miss seeing our old friends in action but hope to catch a glimpse or two in the not too distant future. Good hunting, boys.

John Stuart has sold his promising juvenile, Winfield, to Mrs. E. M. King and surprisingly enough is readying his seven-year-old, Jacques, for some of the better stakes. Don't overlook this one when he makes his first start.

Shepperton is due to start at the Hamilton meet, according to Fred Schelke, and the wonder horse, who has been brought along slowly, will be "right" when he goes to the post or the Gormley racing enthusiast will not send in. Shepperton has been good to Mr. Schelke and he has a deep feeling for the big fellow and will see that he gets the breaks and the best of everything, even though it may mean by-passing a few soft touches by way of purses.

A hand for young Ronnie Simmons. The youngster appears to have just about everything a kid of his age could be expected to have in the way of baseball ability and brains and he can hold his own in either bantam or juvenile. His curves are beginning to break sharply this season and all he needs is a little more control. For that matter the umpires in the league are not just as adept as they might be at picking the corners. Looks as if we may have another Earl Cook in our midst or perhaps a Phil Marchildon.

All that most of these kids now performing in our midst have to do to hit the trail to baseball success is: 1. Pay attention to tuition given them. 2. Practise faithfully and give up a lot of spare-time pleasures. 3. Learn to keep their heads when the going is tough. 4. Most important of all, learn to keep the size of their head so that they can still wear the same size hat they start out with each year. It's not easy to do and we have seen quite a few lads, who could have gone places if they had followed the rules, miss the boat.

We forgot to mention a little thing called clean living. The primrose path doesn't pay off in sports and good-time Charlies don't get very far.

Shows Canadian, British and American troops, with their equipment making their way through the surf, from landing craft to shore. Breaks in the Concrete Walls, made by British Naval Guns, Destroyed and burning buildings, Bombbursts, Aircraft in Action, and the Rich Landscape stretching back from the Sea make up a very descriptive picture.
